Welcome to the 1st Annual MaryAnn Workman Writing Showcase. Mrs. Workman, a teacher with the Fontana Unified School District from 1967 to 1996, was an original leader in establishing the Writing Showcase event, now in its 16th year. In May 2005, the Board of Education chose to recognize Mrs. Workman for her efforts by bestowing her name upon the event.

Showcase – (n.): a setting in which something can be displayed to best effect; (v.): to present something or somebody in a way to attract attention and admiration

As a part of the grade-level content standards K-12, purposeful writing is occurring every day across the curriculum. During the past year students have had an ongoing opportunity to demonstrate their abilities as writers and authors. Beginning this year the event is taking on a new form. Writing selected for the District Showcase has been judged and represents the best grade-level work by students as well as the school's best efforts at teaching to the grade-level standards in written language from the past year.

Acknowledgments

We would like to acknowledge each site's Writing Showcase Coordinators and participating classroom teachers for providing students the opportunity to compose for the writing showcase audience. Furthermore, support of site principals and assistant principals is necessary for this to be a successful event. We would also like to thank those individuals who have assisted with the logistics of today's event including those including the staff of Maintenance and Operations and A.B. Miller High School. Special recognition goes to Beverly Villaseñor, Special Projects Secretary, for her ongoing organization and dedication to details which ensure this event's success.
